

Maden Technologies Launches New Website

ARLINGTON, VA August 3, 2009—Maden Technologies is pleased to announce the launch of our exciting new website! The dynamic, interactive format reflects our forward-thinking approach to solutions, services, and the challenges of an ever-evolving era of Information Technology.

Omar Maden, CEO, said, "This redesigned website has been our labor of love over the past year. I wanted it to represent Maden Technologies' leading-edge IT solutions and services. I am delighted to now share our website vision with the public." Maden added, "I am also proud that the entire project was conceptualized, designed, developed, and produced by our web and graphics team. We will continue to host and maintain the site ourselves. This speaks to the quality of our web capabilities."

The new site offers a more personal look inside our company and culture. For example, the "Meet Our Employees" page features current Maden Technologies employees and why they love working here. Our "History" page documents our accomplishments in service to the Nation. Enhancing the new site's personal feel are several images that include actual Maden employees and our Arlington, Virginia, office settings. We've also enabled an online application process for prospective employees.

We hope you enjoy your visit and learn more about our significant capabilities.
